CAFES / AFTERNOON TEA / MOTHER'S DAY 2017: LONDON'S BEST AFTERNOON TEAS

What could be better than Mother's Day afternoon tea in London? Nothing saying 'I love you' like finger sandwiches and scones, right? The good news is London is full to the brim with amazing Mother's Day afternoon tea this year – everything from gin-based teas, to traditional fare, and wild and whacky teas. Here's where to get your clotted cream fix this Mother's Day in London:

10. For a Timeless Afternoon Tea: London Hilton on Park Lane

What: London Hilton on Park Lane has rolled out a special afternoon tea for Mother's Day, created by Executive Chef Anthony Marshall. The afternoon tea features a range of tasty teatime treats such as chocolate parfaits, and apricot and milk chocolate tartlets.

Eat and Drink: Enjoy freshly made sandwiches including classic combinations of smoked salmon and horseradish crème fraîche on malted seed; cucumber, chive and cream cheese; and prawn cocktail with lettuce. A middle tier of delicacies include an assortment of pistachio and almond financiers, and lemon meringue tarts presented alongside blackberry cannellonis. The eclectic menu of cakes and pastries combines the contemporary with the classic by offering a delectable array of freshly baked scones, in a choice of plain, chocolate chip or raisin, to be generously layered with a heavenly filling of your choice; praline chocolate spread, clotted cream and strawberry jam.

Price: £39 per person

Where: 22 Park Lane, Mayfair, London W1K 1BE
